TRAVEL TO LONG BRANCH INCREASING.

AN ENORMOUS BUSINESS DONE BY TRAIN AND STEAMBOAT-NOTES OF THE SEASON.

Long Branch, Aug. 24 (Special).-The rush of visitors to this section of the New-Jersey seacoast continues unabated. The railroad trains from both north and south are crowded with people. Yester-day all the trains from New-York carried such loads that many persons were compelled to stand up all the way from Jersey City. Officials of the New-York the way from Jersey City. and Long Branch Railroad Company say that this year's record of traffic will far exceed the record of any previous year, and that for its length this road is doing more business than any other line in the country. The Iron Steamboat Company's steamers are also beating their record. They have already carried over 80,000 passengers between and the great Ocean Pier. To the great surprise of Postmaster Williams, Sun-rooms vacated by those going to the mountains are filled by the newcomers. The hotel proprietors say the season will extend far into September. Ground has been broken in Broadway, near Sec-

IN THE CATSKILL RANGE.

A LONG AND SUCCESSFUL SEASON; THE HOTELS TO KEEP OPEN LATE THIS YEAR

-RECENT ARRIVALS. Tannersville, N. Y., Aug. 24 (Special).-The Catakills are full of visitors. This is not an extravagant statement now. August is proving highly successful this year. This old favorite boarding locality is run ning over with guests. Pine Hill is full, Stamford never had so many visitors before, and all the resorts send in like reports. The landlords have hosts of September engagements and most of the houses will be kept open all through that month. Churchill Hall announces open doors until January, the Kaaterskill until September 12 at least, and the Grand until October. The arrivals continue to outnumber the departures as yet, and social life is at full tide. Will Carleton was among the recent guests at the Catskill Mountain House. Clara Ingersoll Waring is at Edgewood in the Stony Clove. The "Quaker ten" at the New Grand last Saturday night was a successful affair, $316 being raised for two needy and worthy mountain families, one being that of Mrs. Sanford, who recently lost six cows on the railroad track by a mistake of a careless driver. A full-dress hop at the Rip Van Winkle House was a notable event at Pine Hill last night. The tennis tournament at the Grand Courts brought out some fine playing. The finals, best three out d five, between G. P. Conne'l and R. G. Miller, resulted in favor of Connell-6-5, 6-1, 2-6, 7-5, giving him the championship of the Catskills. Louis J. Cornu, the orchestral leader, has a benefit concert at the Grand to-night. He is popular them and the guests contributed generously. Captain Shackford, of the yacht Atalanta, former of the Pacific Mail line, makes frequent short tris to leading Catskill resorts while the yacht is moore off Kingston. He is a jolly and typical commande whose measured stride reveals his calling even on
